Why Island Spirit?

We've been in Fiji for almost eight years so we know the locals you're working with personally. We are a small, social enterprise which allows you to talk directly with Kirsty, the Director, you are not one of the masses, this is more personal.

By just travelling with Island Spirit you are already helping generate fair income for these tiny outer island villages. For example, depending on the group size, each homestay host will receive between FJD$30 (£12) each per person, per night with three home-cooked meals. Other similar organisations pay as little as $15 per person. A small example of how the smaller details go a long way.

Deal

If you get five friends to book together (with yourself as six) then you go for FREE!

Suggested Subjects

Students studying subjects such as PGCE are ideal but from specialisms in: tourism, photography, geography, business, entrepreneurship, biology, marine biology, anthropology, international development can also enquire.

Accommodation

A remote island village lodge.
Rustic beachfront bures.
