

Green Sri Lanka A Plant-Based, Foody Adventure

Tantalise your taste buds on this locally inspired, foody adventure.

A grassroots and fairtrade, island escape designed for those wanting to experience Sri Lanka's rich culture through its delicious food. Located on a beach, you will live in one of our carefully chosen homestays alongside the family. All meals are included and will be at a selection of rustic, local restaurants each specialising in different delicacies.

Your days will be filled with cookery classes, yoga and half-day trips to see the whales and the UNESCO world heritage site, Galle Fort, to name just two. An ayurvedic massage is included and a beach clean-up to help the younger generation to understand more about the impact plastic has on their environment.

Price

Minimum of two per group.

Why Island Spirit?

We've been working in Sri Lanka for almost four years so we know the locals you're staying with personally. We are a small, social enterprise which allows you to talk directly with Kirsty, the Director, you are not one of the masses, this is a much more personal adventure.

Just by travelling with Island Spirit you are already helping generate fair income for the local providers we work with. We pride ourselves on working with local communities, not for them. We pay fair wages and spend a lot of time choosing the right people, from local yogi's, surfers, chauffeurs and hosts. We are a multi-cultural team who love what we do and want to share this with you. 10% of proceeds from your trip goes towards one of three projects, a small example of how the little details go a long way.
